

Letter of Recommendation
for
The Lions of Africa

This is a letter of reference for Lions of Africa. On Tuesday February 23, 2010, one of our students, Dustin Ward, had organized an event as a final project for his studies at Webster University. The event,

Lions of Africa
A Cultural Experience

was organized in correlation with our studies of African children in the International Relations Department at Webster University. An important part of the program consisted of

The Lions of Africa Musical Performance.

I was overwhelmed by the impact of their musical performance. The event started with formal lectures in a class room. You can imagine that under those circumstances it normally would be difficult (without a stage, no special lights, an audience in suits) to get into touch with your audience. However, within seconds The Lions of Africa were able to captivate their audience with their electrifying, energetic music and dance. Everybody joined in and soon everyone, including an Ambassador, were on their feet, dancing to the rhythm of the music. I am very grateful that The Lions of Africa were willing to share their passion for music. Their African music and dance can make any event, an event to remember.
